

Protecting Coastal Reserves

The "Protecting coastal reserves – managing sustainable recreational vehicle access across the South Coast" (Phase 2) project facilitated and promoted positive recreational behaviour across the coastal zone of the South Coast region by implementing site-specific on-ground works at strategic locations in five coastal local government areas:

- Boat Harbour, Shire of Denmark
 - Cosy Corner East to Sandpatch, City of Albany
 - Dillon Bay and Reef Beach, Shire of Jerramungup
 - Coastal Corridor west of Hopetoun, Shire of Ravensthorpe
 - Wylie Bay, Shire of Esperance
- The Coastwest (201244) component supported land managers and the community to undertake site planning in an identified priority site or corridor of coastal reserve. Site-specific access management works included access hardening, site definition, and rehabilitation as needed. It also supported a pilot local "Off-roading around the Hopetoun Coast" event in November 2012.

The project built on previous work by South Coast Management Group & its Vehicle Working Group sub-committee to respond to the impacts of vehicle use in the coastal zone through a regional program of education and on-ground works.
